Repair Acknowledgement

By requesting this repair I understand and acknowledge that LOVEthirteen will make every attempt to return the design in question to its original condition. I also understand and acknowledge that many crystals, stones, pendants, etc. are no longer available or stocked by LOVEthirteen - in this case I give LOVEthirteen full creative license to return the design to as close a point as possible to the original design. In the case of a broken design from which stones, crystals, or pendants have been lost - I understand that a charge may be incurred to replace the lost items and that LOVEthirteen will require my approval of the charges prior to proceeding with the repair. In the case of a restringing request for a design which has been stretched, I understand that on occasion a crystal or stone may be lost during the cutting and restringing process due to adhesives and finishes used in the original design. In such case, I give LOVEthirteen full creative license to return the design to as close a point as possible to the original design.
